

Making it last

Changing the present is not enough. We want life to carry on improving – even after the Government cash runs out in 2010.

Community action

Local people can continue to make a difference through Centre West

New project:
Exciting plans are taking shape for the old fire station site

YOUR ASSETS:
Prospect House - rented out to Your Homes Newcastle and earning income for community action

YOUR ASSETS:
Two properties on Hawthorn Terrace now in community ownership

YOUR ASSETS:
Centre West's base at Grainger Park Road

This is our vision for the future:

- A new neighbourhood organisation, led by local people, bringing change to our communities
- Making sure residents have a voice in local decisions
- We have already brought four local properties into community ownership
- Where possible, finding ways of keeping New Deal services going after our funding ends

A new name... a new start

After nine successful years as Newcastle New Deal for Communities, we're getting set for a new start.

New Deal has now become Centre West - a charitable company with a community vision. It's a new kind of organisation to keep the changes coming after our Government funding ends next year.

So let's move forward...together!

Riverside Dene
(the new name for Cruddas Park)

The first phase of a major renewal scheme is underway

Improvements to every neighbourhood - our work continues with plans for Rye Hill, Hawthorn and Sycamore and Arthur's Hill

Stephenson Building
- the transformation continues after New Deal paid for the first phase of work

Neighbourhood renewal
- a ten-year facelift scheme for homes in Arthur's Hill and Wingrove

Stanhope Street
- major revamp underway in the heart of Arthur's Hill

Centre West
community at our heart

A beacon for the future

The future for Centre West includes exciting plans for a landmark eco-friendly building on the site of the old West Road Fire Station, with an emphasis on community, enterprise and commerce.

- A colourful three-storey building that is worthy of our community
- Space for enterprise, community and culture
- A high level of environmental sustainability
- Flexible units for new business start-ups
- A quality restaurant - to attract visitors and create jobs
- An artisan's mall - unique in Newcastle
- Walkway for seasonal markets
- Banqueting hall for conferences, weddings and community events
